WHEELS MOVE IN ENGLAND

Men of the Railways Getting Back to Work

OTHER STRIKES ENDING

No Disorders Yesterday Except At Points Which Could Not Be Reached With News that a Settlement Had Been Made.

London, Aug. 20.—Railway men throughout the kingdom are returning to work and it is hoped within a few days to have the transit system under normal conditions. Following the announcement on Saturday that the railway managers and their employees had agreed to permit a commission to settle their difficulties, came news tonight that there was every hope of ending the dockers' strike at Liverpool.

No rioting, as a result of labor troubles, was reported today except at Dublin, where the police and constables came into collision with a mob in sympathy with the striking newsboys, who are endeavoring to prevent the distribution of newspapers. Several shops were looted.

The railway workers held meetings throughout the country today to celebrate what they term a victory over the railway companies. With the exception of four thousand men of the Northwestern Railway company and a thousand Manchester men the employees demand an eight-hour day and a two shilling weekly advance in wages, with a minimum weekly wage of twenty-two shillings, about $5.50.

Although the service on all lines has not been completely restored, the men in most cases presented themselves for duty and today a start was made in clearing the lines of freight trains, but it will be several days before normal conditions are restored. Because of the telegraph blockade, the manifesto of the strike leaders, calling men to return to work did not reach some points until this morning, and last night there were disturbances in several places.

With the exception of Llanelli, Wales, there were no serious riots. At Llanelli, twelve are dead, as a result of the disturbances yesterday and last night. Most of the casualties were due to an explosion in a freight shed, set on fire by the mob. Three were shot by troops yesterday morning. The police believe the explosion was caused by a box of cartridges looted from the troop train and thrown into the fire. Many persons were seriously injured by the explosion and are in hospitals. Eight thousand troops are quartered at Llanelli but today the town is quiet. The officer in command said that roughs, not strikers, were responsible for the rioting.

The prospects for a settlement of the Liverpool dock strike was brighter tonight as the ship owners have agreed to meet the representatives of the men when all will return to work. While the strike commission had ordered the men not to return to work, pending a result of the negotiations, Tom Mann, the leader of the strikers, said he had reason to believe that he would be able to arrange a meeting of the ship owners and men tomorrow. He is hopeful that there will be a settlement and he declared that it is probable that the dockers will be at work on Wednesday.

The steamers Celtic and Caronia sailed from Liverpool this afternoon with full passenger lists. The California called at Queenstown today and took on mail and passengers. The Carmania and her passengers and mail at Plymouth.

TWO WERE DROWNED AT LONG BEACH

Another Barely Rescued From Clutch of Tide Rip.

Long Beach, Cal., Aug. 20.—Charles W. Noffke of San Francisco and Edward McMullen, aged 20, of Tacoma, were drowned in the surf today when they were caught in a tide rip near the jetties at the entrance of the inner harbor.

The tragedy was witnessed by McMullen's brother, Frank, who came here on a visit a fortnight ago. William Hanrahan of San Francisco was also caught in the tide rip but was rescued by two other bathers.

ATWOOD'S LONG FLIGHT WITHOUT A STOP

Covered 104 Miles Out of Buffalo In Aeroplanes.

Lyons, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Atwood landed in a field at Lyons this afternoon, flying 104 miles from Buffalo without a stop. Ascending at Buffalo at 2:20 he alighted at Lyons at 5:31 p. m., having covered the 104 miles in two hours and eleven minutes. In one stretch he covered four miles in three minutes.

Atwood is now 335 miles from New York. He hopes to reach Albany on Tuesday night and on Wednesday, in a one day flight down the Hudson river, he expects to break the world's record for distance and finish the trip, landing at Coney Island before sundown.

For the 930 miles already covered the actual flying time has been 19 hours and 58 minutes.

SHERIFF SAVED M'DAVITT'S SKIN

MOB WAS FORMING TO STORM THE JAIL.

Desist Cringed With Fear as Was Hurried Away.

San Bernardino, Aug. 20.—That a carefully laid plot for the removal of Dr. A. W. McDavit from the county jail by a mob at midnight last night was frustrated by the prisoner's removal to another jail was the statement of Sheriff Ralph tonight. Sheriff Ralph declined to reveal the present whereabouts of the dentist, accused of having immured Miss Jessie McDonald in a narrow room adjoining his office fifteen months ago. It is believed, however, that McDavit was taken to the state hospital at Highlands.

McDavit, according to the sheriff and the deputies, had lost every semblance of the jaunty assurance which he wore a short time after his arrest. He cringed with terror when led through the jail doors to the waiting automobile which carried him to a hiding place in another jail, last night said the sheriff, and throughout the ride his body shook with fear.

He mumbled continuously, pleading with the sheriff to protect him. McDavit's trial on a statutory charge connected with the alleged imprisonment of the girl is scheduled to come up August 31.

ALTITUDE RECORD STILL IN DOUBT

PROBABLY HELD BY LINCOLN BEACHEY.

Close of the International Meet at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The world's official record for altitude with aeroplanes was hanging in a balance tonight, when the nine-day meet of the International Aviation Association closed. When Lincoln Beachey, in a Curtiss machine, after an hour's flight high above the view of spectators, planned to the earth, an unofficial reading of his barograph indicated that he had reached the height of 11,152 feet.

The meet came to an official close at dusk. Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, and the chief promoter of the meet, circled the field several times in a monoplane driven by Thomas Sopwith.

Exhibition flights will be given tomorrow by all the aviators for the benefit performance for the widow of St. Croix Johnstone, who fell to his death in Lake Michigan on Tuesday.

The duration prize, the chief financial plum of the meet, was won by C. P. Rogers of the Wright team, who was in the air more than 25 of the 31 possible flying hours. The total prize is about $13,000. Rogers will receive half this sum and the residue will be divided among his nearest competitors. Thomas Sopwith was the chief prize winner, taking a total of nearly $14,000.

NEW YORK BANK QUILTS.

New York, August 20.—After paying all the depositors in full, the Audubon National Bank will probably go into voluntary liquidation as the result of a meeting of stockholders called for Tuesday.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Lafayette, Cal., August 20.—F. H. Martin, of Stockton, was instantly killed and five other persons were seriously injured in an automobile accident near here tonight.

FORDS LOSE TO BRANNENS

Tucson Players Prove Too Strong for Phoenix Nine

THIRD GAME OF SERIES

Elysian Park the Scene of Brannens' Second Victory—Fords Chagrined. White Pays Tribute to Brannens' Fairness.

The Fords went to Tucson yesterday to rifle the Pueblo city of its glory. A score of 12 to 3 in favor of the Brannans telegraphed in after the game yesterday afternoon proved that glory is not easily rifled, and that victory is hard to bag.

Seven hundred people crowded the grand stand and bleachers at Elysian park when the two rival teams went out on the field to play the final game of a series of three, the first of which was played in Tucson, and the second in Phoenix. Until the end of the ninth inning yesterday each team had one game to its credit. At the close of said inning the Brannans had two, and the championship coveted by the Phoenix nine had passed into the Brannan camp to remain nobody knows how long.

None of the preparations made for the reception of the Fords in Tucson miscarried. In spite of the sad procession after the game, there was a triumphant parade before it when the old Pueblo band turned out to mingle its harmony with that of the Industrial Liberty band, which accompanied the Fords from Phoenix. A line was formed at the depot after the arrival of the excursion train, and the players marched down Congress street. At the intersection of Congress and Stone avenue the parade broke up, and the teams went to the hotel to refresh themselves, and prepare for the hard work before them at Elysian.

At 2:30 the Fords went to the grounds in a special street car, in company with the band, who were seated later in the center of the grand stand on the lowest seat, while the Tucson band held down the top seats in a similar location. Both organizations broke out into stirring music through the game, and after the close of the ninth inning a few notes of "Carry Me Home to Mother" were heard, coming in a spiritless sort of a way from the brass trumpets of the Industrial Liberty organization.

The game was started promptly at 3 o'clock, and the full Brannan line up was on deck for hot work. Playing with the championship at stake, the members of both nines were keyed up to a high pitch of excitement and determination. Appropriate calls of an encouraging nature being sent out from the Grand Stand in a bewildering jargon of enthusiasm, did not serve to lower the excitement, but it strengthened the determination—of the Brannans more than the Fords, for although the Phoenix fans did their best, their best vocal efforts sounded like a tin bugle trying to do duty as fog horn in a heavy storm, outnumbered as they were by the Tucson people.

From the very beginning of the game the Fords were out of it. Feeling invincible on their grounds, the Brannans put up a game that would have been a credit to a league team. Whether the Fords were too excited to put up their usual game, or so unaccustomed to the grounds they felt awkward when the time came to do the big thing, and pull off the runs is not known, but the game went wrong.

A wire received from White last night said: "Third game lost to Brannans. Hard luck. Fords are planning to 'come back,' and we will make it yet. Boys feeling pretty blue over outcome. Brannans good fellows, and good players. Treated us like princes, and nothing in Tucson has been too good for us today. Feeling disappointed, but not sore. Game fairly won."

NORTH DAKOTA CYCLONE.

Minot, N. D., Aug. 20.—Twenty-four persons are reported injured by a tornado at Antler, N. D., tonight. The property loss is said to be large. Telegraphic communication between Minot and Antler was destroyed by the storm. All the physicians at Westhope and neighboring towns have gone to Antler.

BELEATED BATTLE OF THE REVOLUTION

Mexico City, Aug. 20.—A fight occurred last night between the federal troops under General Huerta and the followers of Zapata, six miles from Cuatla, according to meager reports received here. The unconditional surrender of Zapata had been demanded by the government.

Zapata, following an arrangement with Madero, believed this to be withdrawn in view of his promise to submit to disarmament. So he sent a force of men to meet Huerta.

At the department of the interior it was denied that an agreement was made with Zapata. None will be made. The opinion is expressed that he was deceiving Madero with false promises to surrender.

NOT ASHAMED OF RELIGION

Text Declares Power of the Gospel

THEME OF MORNING SERMON

Spaulding Preaches To Congregation of First Presbyterian Church—Courage Lacking In People Who Are Ashamed to Confess.

Clarence Spaulding preached yesterday morning in the Presbyterian church from the text "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth," the sixteenth verse of the first chapter of Romans.

These are the words of a man who, to use the words of the writer to the Hebrews, "Out of weakness was made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight armies of aliens." It was this same man who, face to face with death in a Roman prison, wrote to Timothy, "For I am already departing, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give to me at that day, and not only to me, but also to all them that love his appearing." It is this same man who wrote to the Galatians, "I have been crucified with Christ; yet I live and yet no longer I, but Christ liveth in me." Here his words are, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Paul's testimony to the Roman church in almost the beginning of this, his great doctrinal epistle as to the uplifting nature of what he is about to set forth.

The founding of the Roman church is shrouded in mystery. It is tradition, and tradition only, that couples St. Peter's name with the Roman church, as the founder. There is absolutely no record of such a fact that will bear a critical and impartial inspection or investigation, and moreover, the testimony of the Epistle itself, is ample proof that Paul has not even heard of Peter as the founder of the Roman church as Catholic tradition asserts. Listen to the words in chapter XV, 8th verse, "For I will not dare to speak of anything, save those which Christ wrought thru me for the obedience of the Gentiles by word and deed, in the power of signs and wonders, in the power of the Holy Ghost—So that from Jerusalem and roundabout, even unto Illyricum, I have fully preached the Gospel of Christ, making it my aim so to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was already named, that I might not build upon another man's foundation."

And further there is no mention of Peter's name in the salutation at the end of the epistle. Paul's knowledge of the Roman church came from Priscilla and Aquila with whom he had been associated in Corinth, during his second missionary journey, as a tentmaker and missionary. And it is these two names we find as heading the list of those to be saluted at the end of the epistle.

Paul, himself, is now on his way to Jerusalem, at the end of his third missionary journey, with the contribution of the epistle churches for the poor of Palestine. Paul's knowledge of the church at Jerusalem is his line of march, but first to you, and I know that when I come unto you, I shall come into the fullness of the blessing of Christ," and a little

LET JOY BE UNCONFINED

Statehood Jollification on City Hall Plaza Tonight

SIGNATURE OF PRESIDENT

It Will Be Proclaimed By Bells and Whistles In the Noisiest Manner Possible. Music and Oratory of the Statehood Variety.

Toot ye whistles, ring ye bells
Blow ye wild winds blow;
Patriot people, add your yells
And let the wide world know.

When pandemonium breaks loose some time today, probably well along in the afternoon, when the whistles toot, the bells ring and the whole town becomes a good natured rough house, it need not alarm anybody seriously, for it will only be the method decided upon to let everybody know in the quickest way possible that President Taft has signed the Smith Flood statehood resolution, and statehood has in effect been achieved.

Every good citizen is supposed to be wearing a smile now and as soon as he hears the bells and whistles he will be expected to let out a statehood yell that will be echoed by telegraph clear to the Atlantic seaboard. This applies with equal effect to the so-called radical, progressive or reactionary, as all want statehood worse than anything else, and the expected event of the day will signalize the winning of the greatest of all Arizona fights, the right to settle the differences of principle and faction at home. Whatever the brethren may think of the initiative and referendum, the recall of judges, prohibition, original sin or the tariff on nutmegs, they will be expected to keep it to themselves today and join in the general satisfaction of being present at the birth of Uncle Sam's youngest and most promising baby.

The foregoing is the first number on the program of celebration decided upon yesterday by the nonpartisan committee appointed by the board of trade. This evening there will be a gorgeous display of red fire and glorified music by the Pioneer band while the populace is gathering on the city hall plaza to be entertained by some of the city's most noted spellbinders regardless of their age, political or religious affiliations, or their future hope of office or heaven. Their speeches will be no recriminations and no fence building, only joyful expression of their own sentiments and that of the populace. It is to be a glory hallelujah meeting and if there be those who have canker in their souls and jaundiced livers, they are invited to go and jump in Salt river. Phoenix people have been ripping each other up the back on the statehood question for the last twenty years and now they propose to have at least one good love feast.

The nonpartisan celebration committee, as announced yesterday, consists of Governor R. E. Sloan, R. A. Craig, John P. Orme, Geo. P. Bullard, Frank Luke, Mayor Lloyd B. Christy, Dan McDermott, C. J. McElroy, J. H. McClintock, R. S. Goodrich, Chas. A. Stauffer, L. C. Hill, Howard Reed, A. C. Baker, Alfred Franklin, Walter Bennett, J. L. Levin, Dr. J. W. Foster, and others. The committee will bear a critical and impartial inspection or investigation, and moreover, the testimony of the Epistle itself, is ample proof that Paul has not even heard of Peter as the founder of the Roman church as Catholic tradition asserts. Listen to the words in chapter XV, 8th verse, "For I will not dare to speak of anything, save those which Christ wrought thru me for the obedience of the Gentiles by word and deed, in the power of signs and wonders, in the power of the Holy Ghost—So that from Jerusalem and roundabout, even unto Illyricum, I have fully preached the Gospel of Christ, making it my aim so to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was already named, that I might not build upon another man's foundation."

The meeting organized by the selection of J. P. Orme as chairman and C. J. McElroy as secretary. The securing of the services of the band was left to Col. J. H. McClintock, president of the board of trade, as also was the duty of sending the necessary telegrams. The question of when to celebrate was taken up by the reading of a message from Delegate Ralph Cameron saying that he felt sure the president would sign the statehood resolution today. All present felt sure that he would sign it tomorrow if not today and as it was desirable to let the joy of the community be known as quickly as possible it was decided to hold the jollification tonight, regardless. One cannot hold a spontaneous outburst until it goes to seed.

Next came the matter of letting the people know and E. L. O'Malley was appointed a special sub-committee on noise. His duties are indicated at the beginning of this story. He is to arrange for the use of every noise-making device in town if possible, perhaps even the ringing of the fire bell.

John P. Orme, chairman of the committee, a member of the late constitutional convention and member of the board of supervisors was decided upon as the proper person to preside at the speechmaking feature of the jollification, which is to begin at 8 o'clock. C. J. McElroy was named as a finance committee and if he asks the reader for a piece of money today the latter is asked to come through without protest or argument. Arizona will only secure statehood once.

The question of speakers offered a little embarrassment. It was desirable to have a fairly long program of very short and spicy speeches but when the committee looked over the speechmaking citizenship it found about two-thirds of the orators of all parties were out of town, some on business and some on vacations. But there were a number left and some of those who are away may be back in time, notably Governor Sloan who is in Prescott, former Governor Kibbey who is en route home from the east and Judge Baker who is in northern Arizona. These gentlemen were put on the list at once and the telegraph wires awaited them to come in a hurry and come with speeches on the ends of their tongues. George Purdy Ballard was next slated, followed by Judge C. F. Alsworth, Alfred Franklin, Frank DeSouza and R. S. Goodrich. It is expected this will be the list of speakers, though some others may be added. Anyhow there will be good speaking and plenty of it and it will all be to the main point, which is statehood.

EXTRA SESSION'S WORK SUMMED UP

NOW THAT EVE OF ADJOURNMENT HAS COME.

Realization Fell Somewhat Short of Expectation

Washington, D. C., August 20.—Congress will adjourn before Tuesday night, possibly tomorrow, and the most strenuous session in recent years will pass into history. The net results of the extra session, in comparison with the ambitious program adopted at the outset are not large.

Canadian reciprocity was brought as near reality as the executive and legislative departments could advance it; statehood was assured for New Mexico and Arizona; campaign publicity legislation was enacted in a form satisfactory to its most earnest advocates; provision was made for an enlarged house of representatives based on the census of 1910; a few other measures of minor importance were passed.

The democratic house, the first since 1895, attempted to make into laws the views of the democrats on tariff revision, but the executive disposal rendered futile all efforts. Two tariff bills, and materially reducing duties on wool and woolen goods of all classes, in other placing on free list articles, machinery and tools used by farmers, and amended to include many other items, were vetoed by President Taft.

The cotton revision bill awaits a similar fate. The house democrats endeavored to pass the wool and free list bill over the veto but the necessary two-thirds vote could not be mustered. These failures to overthrow President Taft's veto was a strong factor in determining the leaders to close the session and it is likely that congress will be in session to receive the veto of the cotton measure.

CHIHUAHUA ELECTION GONZALES SUCCESSFUL

Official Announcement Not To Be Made for Days.

Juarez, Aug. 20.—The election of state officers was held throughout the state of Chihuahua today. While but little information is available tonight it is evident that Abraham Gonzales, the present provisional governor, was elected with all the ticket. The election was held under the old federal laws and it will be necessary to send the election returns to the city of Chihuahua to be canvassed. It will be several days before an official announcement can be made.

In the city about 4,000 votes were cast of which Gonzales received an overwhelming majority. The saloons were closed and there were no disturbances. Reports from other sections in the state indicate that it was a very quiet election.

GIFT BEARER KILLED.

Murder of a Negro Near Yuma By His Wife.

Yuma, Aug. 20.—Following a trip to this city yesterday on which he bought his wife a gold watch, John Jordan, a negro employed at a levee construction camp near here was shot twice and killed by the woman when they quarreled on his return to camp last night.

Next came the matter of letting the people know and E. L. O'Malley was appointed a special sub-committee on noise. His duties are indicated at the beginning of this story. He is to arrange for the use of every noise-making device in town if possible, perhaps even the ringing of the fire bell.

John P. Orme, chairman of the committee, a member of the late constitutional convention and member of the board of supervisors was decided upon as the proper person to pre-

PRESIDENT'S LONG TRIP

Decided That He Will Come to Pacific Coast

A TOUR OF SIX WEEKS

Plans Arranged Now that the Early Adjournment of Congress has been Agreed Upon—Raid Strongholds of Progressives.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Plans for President Taft's trip through the west and the Pacific coast were practically completed today. The journey will be almost as extensive as that taken by the President on his famous "swing around circle" in 1909, when he travelled more than 13,000 miles and visited thirty-three states. He will break round for the Panama canal exposition at San Francisco, make scores of addresses and attempt to scale the 14,000 feet of Mount Rainier's slope.

According to the present arrangement, the president will be gone six weeks. In that time it is expected he will make nearly 200 speeches, from the rear platform of his private car and other places not on the regular schedule. The republican leaders look upon the trip as the most important politically that the president has mapped out since he entered the White House. He will go through all the states of the west in which they recognize the dominance of progressive republicans who are counted on to oppose his re-nomination next year.

Until the question of the adjournment of congress was out of the way the president was undecided whether to be gone three weeks or six. With the adjournment practically assured for this week, the president feels that he can get three weeks' rest at Beverly, and be in trim to stand the hard grind of forty days in the private car.

The president probably will leave Beverly on September 17, returning east about November 1. He will go west through Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Nevada to the coast. Most of the big cities of these states, including Des Moines, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver and Salt Lake City, will be visited, but plans for the trip contemplate stops at scores of smaller places as well.

From California the president will go north to Portland and Seattle. Three days will be spent in Washington state and the route eastward will allow him to stop in Idaho, Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota.

While no "spellbinders" will be taken along, it is probable that members of the cabinet and congressmen will become travelling companions of the president at various points en route. Topics for the president's addresses will not be hard to find, the leaders say.

SHOAL OF GIRLS IN GOLDEN GATE

Four More Swam Across the Channel.

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—The feat of Miss Hazel Laugenour, who swam the Golden Gate yesterday in one hour and 28 minutes, was surpassed today by Miss Nellie Schmidt, of the University of California, a student who swam the course in 42 minutes. Miss Liba Scheffeld and Miss Nita Scheffeld, sisters, also swam the channel in 43 minutes and the latter in 47 minutes.

The two girls whose home is in Los Angeles will take the entrance examination for the University of California this week.

Mrs. Terle Desch, who once before made an unsuccessful attempt to swim the channel, was taken from the water exhausted within 100 yards of the finish. The young woman swam one mile from Fort Point to Lums Point. The shores were crowded with spectators.
